Meet the Team – Gene, Owner & Founder

Every successful company starts with a vision. At Storm Master Exteriors, that vision belongs to Gene, who founded the company on June 24, 2011, with a commitment to doing things differently.

Before starting Storm Master Exteriors, Gene proudly served in the United States Army in Communications, where he developed the discipline, leadership, and problem-solving skills that continue to shape the company today.

From the very beginning, Gene has believed that Storm Master Exteriors is about much more than roofing.

We don't sell products—we build relationships.

A roof, windows, siding, or gutters can be purchased from many companies. What makes Storm Master different is the people behind the work and the trust our customers place in us.

That is why Storm Master Exteriors never outsources our customers' trust by subcontracting our projects. From the initial inspection and consultation through the final walkthrough, our customers work exclusively with Storm Master employees—trained professionals who share the same commitment to quality, communication, and customer satisfaction.

Gene is a forward thinker who continually challenges what the roofing and exterior remodeling industry can be. He encourages our team to question existing processes, improve procedures, embrace new ideas, and never settle for "good enough."

That commitment has helped Storm Master develop installation practices that exceed industry standards while maintaining a culture built on teamwork, accountability, and continuous improvement.

One of the things Gene is most proud of is the team that has been built over the years. Every member of Storm Master Exteriors has been carefully selected because they bring unique skills, strong character, and a shared commitment to the company's vision.

Together, they have created a company known throughout the Great Lakes Bay Region for quality craftsmanship, integrity, and exceptional customer service.

Since opening our doors in 2011, Gene's goal has remained the same:

Treat every customer with honesty and respect. Build lasting relationships. Deliver workmanship we're proud to stand behind.

Thank you, Gene, for your leadership, your vision, and your dedication to building not only strong homes—but an even stronger team.
